HOLD MANY HALLOWE'EN PARTIES

Clubs and Fraternal Organizations Hobnob with Ghosts and Goblins and Hold Costume Parties on Eve of All Saints.

A very gay costume party was held by the members of the Clan Auxiliary in Fraternal hall on Thursday evening. The hall was decorated with streamers of orange and black and the lights were shaded with ghostly masks.

The grand march gave a good opportunity to display an unusual number of striking costumes, many of them made especially for the occasion.

There were numerous Halloween games including an apple-eating contest, a popcorn contest and a peanut race. Mrs. David Hackney was the most successful with the apples and was awarded a vase. She was second in the popcorn contest and won a box of candy while Mrs. George Carmichael was first also receiving a box of candy.

At the business meeting, preceding the party and presided over by Mrs. George Petrie an invitation was accepted to attend a ball to be given by the Grand Clan in Boston on Thanksgiving eve. Mrs. Charlotte Holden gave a report of the Grand Lodge meeting which she attended in Wallace hall, Boston, on last Saturday.

Refreshments of "braided", cake, cookies, doughnuts, tea and apples was served by a committee composed of Mrs. George Petrie, Mrs. Alexina Guthrie, and Misses Joan Holden, Marjorie Lowe, Margaret Thompson, Jeanie Page, Elizabeth Thompson, Jessie Robertson, Constance Trumbull, Isabel Valentine, Isabelle Craik and Jean Lyle.

Business and Professional Women Hold Halloween Party

The first social event of the newly formed Business and Professional Women's club, a Halloween party held on Monday evening, was a conspicuous success. Assembling at the Guild House, each member was blindfolded, and entrusting themselves to the mercies of the committee and several specially appointed traffic officers, they were led to a rendezvous with ghosts and goblins at the stable of Mrs. Jerome W. Cross on School street.

An icy hand greeted them at the door, an invisible something brushed them from behind, and a restless skeleton was omnipresent. Having survived these horrors they arrived at the loft transformed with golden straw, autumn leaves, and special lighting into quite the prettiest place imaginable for a Halloween party.

There was a ghost story, and "oo-coo" in which everyone joined. Jerome Cross, Jr., made a short and amusing speech and Paul Crowley gave an exhibition of the buck and wing. Moving pictures were also shown.

In an adjoining room, also elaborately decorated, was an abundant supply of nut bread sandwiches, doughnuts, gingerbread, cookies, cheese, coffee, cider and kisses.

The chairman of the committee who arranged the party was Miss Grace A. Hig-

HOLD ANNUAL MEETINGS

Andover Historical Society and Punctard Alumni Association Elect Officers for Ensuing Year

Lawrence V. Roth was the speaker at the annual meeting of the Andover Historical society held Tuesday evening in Punctard hall. With the aid of lantern slides he showed how the history of the United States, especially of New England, has been determined by its geography. In addition to maps the pictures included old bridges, taverns and toll houses.

At the business meeting, preceding the lecture, which was presided over by John V. Holt, the annual report of the secretary was read by Fred E. Cheever, the librarian's report by Miss Helen Eaton, and in the absence of George Abbott, the treasurer's report was read by David Shaw.

Miss Eaton reported a number of gifts from Mrs. Selah Merrill, whose husband was for many years United States consul to Jerusalem. Gifts from Mrs. Joseph W. Smith included the by-laws of the Friendly Fire Society dated 1829, the constitution of the Shawsheen Engine No. 1, 1851, the dedication of Brechin hall, an old camp, a ballist hook used by Indians on the Pacific coast, a bit used on one of General Beauregard's horses during the Civil war, old hunting knives, old paper knives, two arrow heads, and miscellaneous papers connected with town meetings. There were also numerous other gifts, one of which was a dispatch box used by Hobart Clark, the first president of the Boston & Maine railroad.

The report of the nominating committee was given by Eugene M. Weeks and officers were elected as follows: President emeritus, Dr. Charles E. Abbott; president, John V. Holt; first vice president, Frank L. Brigham; second vice president, Miss Bell J. Butterfield; treasurer, Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith; secretary, Fred E. Cheever; directors for three years, Mrs. Henry S. Jenkins, Miss Anne Penniman. Directors continuing in office are Mrs. Arthur Bliss, William A. Trow and Rev. F. A. Wilson.

Miss Goldsmith takes the place of George Abbott, who resigned on account of ill health. Mr. Abbott was the first secretary of the society which was established in 1911 and held this office up until his resignation Monday evening.

A committee on the Washington ball was appointed as follows: F. E. Cheever, H. Winthrop Peirce and Mrs. Philip P. Cole. The president invited everyone to stay and "be neighborly" according to the custom advocated by Dr. Abbott. Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served by the committee.

Frank R. Petty was elected president at the postponed annual meeting of the Punctard Alumni association held Tuesday evening.

Department of Conservation Asks that Hunting Laws be Observed

On the eve of the opening of the annual hunting season, Director William C. Adams of the State Division of Fisheries and Game renews his efforts during the coming season to see that the laws are observed.

The warden force is now completely motorized and better equipped than ever before to cope with violators. The judges of the various district courts throughout the state are giving the wardens splendid support and showing no leniency to violators brought before them.

Not only are substantial fines being imposed in the majority of cases but under an automatic provision of the law every person so convicted loses his sporting and trapping licenses and his right to hunt, trap and fish for a period of one year from the date of his conviction. There is no way in which such a license can be returned within one year.

Each hunter should first provide himself with a sporting license and then acquaint himself with the present fish and game laws for ignorance of the law excuses no one.

The rights of the land-owner should be respected and his property safe-guarded against any damage or injury. The failure to do this may result in the farmer withdrawing the privilege he now extends to the sportsman to hunt on his land.

The prevention of forest fires ranks second to none in importance for consideration. Carelessness on the part of a single hunter may cause a forest fire which would destroy more game than would be killed by the sportsman during the entire season. The occurrence of an increased number of forest fires during the hunting season might result in the suspension of the season by the Governor.

Director Adams further advises the use of great care in the handling of firearms to prevent accidents in the woods or personal injury to hunters. Great danger exists unless each hunter makes sure of what he is shooting at before the gun is discharged or if he allows the gun to remain loaded after the hunt is over.

If any pheasants are killed bearing bands, the bands should be removed and sent to the director with a statement as to where the bird was killed. This request is in connection with an investigation to determine how far the pheasants travel from the point at which they are liberated.

The Division calls special attention to its desire to obtain all the information possible concerning the partridge. If gunners find any dead partridges in the woods or shoot a bird which appears to be diseased they are earnestly requested to send it with all possible information to Dr. Alfred O. Gross, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine who is making a scientific study of the partridge situation.

Why Storm Windows Reduce Fuel Bills

If a storm window is put on the outside of windows the glass thickness is doubled, an air space is added, and the heat consumption is reduced by more than half, or to 31.5 B. T. U. per square foot. It is obvious that the initial cost of storm windows, especially if placed on the sides of the house with the coldest exposure, will be covered in a few years by the saving in cost due to reducing the size of the original heating system and by the annual saving in fuel.

Valuable heat is often lost in appreciable quantities through windows. To get some idea of the heat loss that is taking place on a cold day, place your hand near a pane of glass and see how chilly it feels.

To measure the heat loss that is taking place constantly in cold weather through each square foot of wall or window space a common yardstick can be found in the British thermal unit (B. T. U.), but in using it we must remember that each material—brick, glass, wood, plaster and so on—has a different cold-resisting scale.

For instance, with the temperature at zero outside and at 70 degrees inside, a square foot of brick wall, eight inches thick and furred and plastered, may be considered as wasting 21 B. T. U., whereas, each foot of glass window wastes 78.5 B. T. U. In other words, the furnace heat escapes nearly four times as fast through the window as through the wall.

Storm windows and doors prevent this heat loss and make any home, especially one in an exposed location, more livable and easy to heat.

"Inside" Information

Liver and bacon makes a good dinner meat, especially prepared, with the merit being especially valuable in the diet. Any kind of liver supplies vitamins, iron, and furnishes the body with protein and calories.

Peach dumplings, baked in muffin pans, are seasonable now. Serve hot with hard sauce, liquid sauce, or whipped cream. Peel the peaches but do not remove the stones, as they give the dumpling an extra good flavor.

Unwrap meat as soon as it is brought from the market, and place it in a clean, dry, covered dish in the refrigerator or other cold place until wanted. Don't wash meat until just before cooking. Washing draws the juices out and hastens spoilage.

Always take the pieces of bacon out of the skillet as soon as they are delicately browned and crisp. Drain them on clean, unglazed paper. If you leave them in the fat they will be greasy. Cook bacon in a heavy, iron skillet over a slow fire and watch it constantly to prevent scorching.

Because of the demand for their hides few alligators live a natural life.

REPERTORY THEATRE

The inception of "As You Like It" at The Repertory Theatre will come on Thursday, November third, at the matinee, thereafter continuing through the week, save for Monday, the seventh, when "You Never Can Tell" is to be given as a special performance for the Y. W. C. A., the house being sold out.

The comedy of "As You Like It" shows Shakespeare's special dramatic skill at its highest, his inventive faculty at its best, and his powers of character creation at their strongest. With its romantic and sylvan atmosphere, its plot wherein is told the love story of Rosalind and Orlando, "As You Like It" has lived through three centuries of the stage, and it still possesses the spirit of to-day, as well as of yesterday.

With the exception of the first act, all the scenes of "As You Like It" are in the Forest of Arden, and thence come Orlando and Rosalind, Celia and Touchstone, there to take part in a delightful sequence of incidents that involve love, romance and mystery. Nothing can be more appealing to the eye than those woodland scenes, and where in Shakespeare can be found more delicious episodes than those between the two lovers, with Rosalind masquerading as a boy, and Orlando unaware of her identity as the girl he loves. Rosalind ranks high among Shakespeare's heroines, and none excel her in romantic fantasy.

The stage settings for the Repertory Theatre production will be from designs by Henry Jewett. The cast will include Forbes Dawson as Orlando, Arthur Bowyer as Adam, William Faversham, Jr. as Oliver, May Ward as Celia, Olga Birbeck as Rosalind, Dennis Clough as Touchstone, Thayer Roberts as Duke Frederick, William Jackson as The Banished Duke, Henry Jewett as Jacques, Thomas Shearer as Corin and Adelaide George as Phebe.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

What was an astounding hit in New York was Aaron and Freedley's musical comedy, "Oh Kay!" with Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson. Crumit heading the cast, and which comes to the Majestic Theatre, Boston, on Monday night, Nov. 7th, for a limited engagement.

"Oh Kay!" sparkles with comedy and bright song numbers, dance oddities and everything that goes to make a musical comedy a success. The handling of the large ensemble numbers lives to the best tradition of the two young producers.

"Oh Kay" was a spontaneous success in New York. In the first place it is a beautiful production, both from the standpoint of settings and costumes, and also comedically. But these of themselves don't make a show. It has an excellent chorus that can sing and dance. Its music is remarkable and there you have the three things that are principal ingredients that enter into the making of a musical comedy success.

The book itself is rather more interesting than the average story of musical comedy. It tells of the return of a popular young man to his seaside home with his bride of a day. He finds it peopled with strange persons and the house itself an object of suspicion. Unknown to him, rum-runners have taken possession and stored their loot in the cellar and revenue agents are trying to find out what's what. In the party of rum-runners is a young girl who becomes an object of great interest to the young bridegroom as soon as he finds that his marriage is illegal.

The end of the story is worked out to a happy conclusion as one may imagine. In the meantime, complications arise and one of the bootleggers is forced to pose as a butler in the home. The party is then by Johnny Young and one who knows Young can imagine the fun he gets out of burlesquing the job. Julia Sanderson as the rum-running flapper is a remarkably good comedienne and is thoroughly at home in a role that requires much personality. The part of the much married man is taken by Frank Crumit.

Baked Ham

The Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, suggests the following as a good method of preparing and baking ham, whether it is to be served hot or cold. Select 9 to 10 pound ham and scrub it thoroughly. If it is very salty, soak it overnight. Allow at least one quart of boiling water to each pound of ham, or enough to completely cover it. Place it in the hot water and, for this sized ham, add one carrot sliced, two stalks of celery, one teaspoon of celery salt, three sprigs parsley, one onion sliced, two or three bay leaves, and one-half cup strong vinegar. Cover, and then simmer for four or five hours, counting the time from the beginning of the simmering period.

Twenty-five minutes to the pound will be approximately right. Test by using a skewer, or a fork, with long tines. Turn the ham so it will cook evenly on both sides. Add more hot water as the liquor evaporates. The ham should be covered with water during the entire cooking period. After it is tender, let it stand overnight in the liquor or, if you wish to serve it hot, remove the skin at once, wash the surface of the ham in cool, then cover with the following mixture: 3 cups brown sugar, 3 cups fine, soft bread crumbs, one half teaspoon mustard, cider or vinegar moisten. Mix these ingredients, and spread over the top of the ham until entirely covered. Press tongue-stained whole cloves into the coated fat, at intervals. These help to hold on the paste, and also to season the fat. Place the ham in a hot oven to form a crust quickly, then reduce the temperature and baste frequently with a mixture of ham liquor and cider or vinegar, until the ham is evenly browned.

She nodded to the butcher and he came at once to her side. "I keep a boarding house," she whispered, "and I want you to pick me out the three toughest of those chickens."

"Certainly," replied the man, and, with a knowing wink, deftly selected the specimens. His customer opened her purse in a business-like manner as the butcher took the chickens over to be weighed.

"Wait," cried the woman, "I've changed my mind. I'll have the other two."

History of Turnpike one of Interest

Recent announcement that the State contemplates other widening of the Newburyport turnpike recalls the interesting history of that stretch of roadway which has served for one hundred and twenty-two years to provide means of communication between the Mystic and Merrimack rivers. Originally the highway has been a popular artery of travel since the advent of the automobile age and has carried volumes of traffic in recent years.

After the Revolution, commerce began making strides in Massachusetts and means of communication were needed. The turnpike was not financially able to build roads and the cost was greater than individuals could assume, a corporation for each such enterprise was created to build ways called turnpikes. The charter authorizing the building of the Newburyport turnpike was signed by Governor Caleb Strong on March 8, 1803. Micajah Sawyer, William Coombs, Nicholas Pike, Arnold Welles, William Bartlett, John Pettigill, William Smith, John Codman, and James Prince in their petition to the General Court for permission to build the Newburyport turnpike based their claim on the advantage of connecting their town with the capital of the State by air line.

The directors of the road organized in April, 1803, and their engineers walked the entire distance through rocky heights, bogs, briers, thickets, and all the unpleasant obstacles of the unfrequented country at a slow pace. Construction of the turnpike was begun at the head of State Street in Newburyport on August 23, 1803. The work, done by contract, was actually paid by a shovel and pick received five or six shillings a day, and $1.57 was paid for a man, cart and oxen. At one place near Newburyport the road was raised twenty-five feet for a distance of twenty-five rods to get it above the swamp. At the end of the last day's work nearly $420 a shaft of wood was experienced a feeling of relief, but the next morning they found a tremendous hole where the embankment had been the night before. The swamp had swallowed their road. But this misfortune was turned to an advantage for the big hole was used as a place for collecting the earth and rock which was removed from neighboring hills and eventually served as a solid foundation for the road across the swamp.

By November, 1803, four miles of road had been finished. In the spring of 1804 the work was pushed to 500 men with oxen and horses were employed. The toughest and most expensive part of the work was that between Peabody's Mills and Malden. In this stretch nine hills were cut from twelve to twenty-five feet each. Eighteen cases were raised to twenty-five feet in height were required to fill the deep depressions in the roadway. Accidents were frequent during the building of the pike.

At the close of 1804 the turnpike was completed to the Malden Road and early in the next year was extended to a mass of rocks in Malden called Topket Lodge. The road was opened to public travel on February 11, 1805. The change of the southern terminus of the pike from Chelsea bridge, as originally proposed, to Malden bridge was accomplished by legislative action.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

Looking Back Twenty-five Years

Richard White and his sister, Emily spent Sunday in Portland, Maine.

At the confirmation at St. Augustine's church last Sunday afternoon there were ninety-six children from Andover, thirty from Wilmington and twenty-one from Ballardvale.

Miss Evelyn Reed, formerly of Andover, who has been spending the summer and fall at Indian Pond Camps, near Moosehead lake, was in town for a short time this week, but will return to the camps again before long.

Dana Lord, the young son of Joseph Lord of Bartlett street, entertained fourteen of his young friends at his home Wednesday afternoon. The time was pleasantly spent playing games until five o'clock when refreshments were served and the gathering soon afterwards broke up.

Donovan & Sons are painting the residence of Dr. Cyrus W. Scott, Main street. Thomas M. Lunan has accepted a position as chemist with a large manufacturing concern at Newark, N. J.

Alexander T. Dundas of Moosup, Conn., visited at his home on Summer street, Wednesday evening.

A rose in bloom was presented to the Townsend office Wednesday by John Nice, from the garden of Miss Margaret Gray.

Mrs. William E. Russell of Cambridge, widow of the late Governor Russell, who has lately returned from Europe, spent the day recently with her friend, Mrs. Edwin P. Reed of School street.

A meeting of the Free Church parish was held last evening at the church vestry with about twenty-five present. Clerk G. A. Higgins read the warrant and Joseph A. Smart was chosen moderator. J. Newton Cole, chairman of the committee on relocating the church gave a report of the progress made. John W. Bell, as treasurer, reported as follows: Whole number of appeals sent out, 339; responses, 174; in affirmative, 139; in negative, 27; non-committal, 8; offered to give support, 149; 49 pledges already received amounting to $6,338, making a total of $17,307. The possible location for a new edifice was discussed informally and it seems likely that the church will eventually be built on Elm street not far from the square.

Miss Susan E. Abbott, M.D., of Philadelphia, formerly of Andover, has passed the New York medical examination which enables her to practice in any state of the union except Massachusetts.

H. W. Boynton, formerly an instructor at Phillips academy has been appointed to the editorship of the department of "Books New and Old" of the Atlantic Monthly.

One hundred ladies were present at the South church vestry yesterday afternoon at the quarterly meeting and tea of the Woman's Union. After the business, tea was served with Miss Florence Swift and Mrs. C. H. Gilbert pouring.

A Carpenters' Union, No. 1298, has been organized in Andover as a branch of the National Carpenters' Union. The union has obtained a charter and has elected the following officers: President, Thomas W. Platt; vice president, Richard Whittier; recording secretary, Roscoe Cole; financial secretary, Austin Poland; treasurer, John Howell; conductor, Arthur Comeau; trustees, Warren Dearborn, Peter Myatt, Clarence Haskell.

Last evening, the Highland, Magnolia, and Vesper departments of the Andover Girls' club had a very pleasant hallowe'en dance to which each member invited a setts Infantry mobilized on the same old Civil War campground at Lynnfield. During the coming year this famous old road will be widened to twenty-eight feet or more. The present cement pavement is eighteen feet wide. Contracts may be awarded in December by the State Department of Public Works for the construction of new five or ten-foot wings on each side of the present cement roadway, making a smooth highway of cement wide enough for three lines of automobiles to travel abreast. Shoulders three or more feet wide of hard material will be built on either side of the enlarged road. It may be necessary to take some private property in places at the Newburyport end to make the road wide enough. The estimated cost will be $1,000,000 and the structure will be identical along the approximately twenty-eight miles of straight roadway. The work will be begun at the Malden end and filling will be put in during the winter, probably. It is anticipated a section of the roadbed will be ready to receive its top covering of smooth cement in the spring.

How New Yorkers Eat Their Apples
There's more apple sauce eaten in high salary families in New York than by any other class.

The fact is revealed by the New York food marketing research council in its effort to learn what happens to all the apples that reach the city.
The same group leads in consumption of baked apples and salads, but is not so fond of pies or of eating its apples raw. Families with low incomes scarcely bother with salads. They do well by baked apples and pies, give considerable attention to apple sauce, and display an avid partiality for the raw fruit. Those of medium purchasing power give apple sauce a good break and ring the bell on pies. Of all groups they eat the fewest baked apples. They like salads a little better than the low salary group and take second place in eating the fruit raw.

The council made the outstanding discovery that New York knows little, and cares less, about variety and brand in apples. It is the wide practice of all classes to point for their apples. Likewise, it is common to purchase by color, or to ask for "eating apples" or "cooking apples."

"Green" apples are favored for cooking, and "red" for eating. Only 750 housewives out of 3,000 representative families told the council they bought by variety names, and less than fifteen per cent of the entire number professed familiarity with brands. Of the 300 to 400 apple varieties, only fifteen are preferred in any consequence and only eight are known and preferred by any considerable number of persons.

Negroes possess the most of what little knowledge of brands is displayed, chiefly, it is explained, because many of their women are employed as domestics. Jewish people are the most selective in their apple buying, 58 per cent of them preferring the McIntosh as an eating variety. Italians lead in consumption of raw fruit, 72 per cent eating their apples uncooked.

Ninety-five per cent of the apple purchases are made by women mostly housewives. Push cart sales exceed all others. Most families buy twelve apples at a time.

guest. The presidents of the departments assisted the house mother and the president of the A. G. C. in receiving. The music was very satisfactory and was furnished by the Thomas Society orchestra composed of Mrs. Thomas, David Lindsay, E. R. Foster, Roy Lindsay and Mr. Igo of Lawrence.

Last Tuesday night Miss Means and the school tendered a reception in honor of Miss Alice French (Octave Thonet), and the faculties of the three schools of the town and a few personal friends of Miss French.

A delightful reception was held under the auspices of the Phoebe Foxcroft Phillips chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, in honor of the State officers at the November clubhouse last Saturday afternoon from three to six o'clock. The local chapter was assisted by the Deborah Sampson chapter of Lawrence. Mrs. Charles E. Abbott, regent of the local chapter, received assisted by the state regent, Mrs. John A. Heath of Boston. The tea tables were decorated with buff and blue. During the afternoon a musical program was rendered consisting of violin selections by Mrs. Willis G. Parmelee and Misses Alice and Charlotte Cox and songs by Mrs. F. H. Foster.

A very quiet home wedding was celebrated last evening in the West Parish, when Miss Florence A., second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Burt, was united in marriage with Winthrop S., youngest son of Selectman and Mrs. S. H. Burt, at two o'clock.

Frederic Baldwin, Donald Buchan are playing on the strong Lowell Textile school eleven this fall.

A surprise and birthday party was held at the handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Barton on Elm street last evening when about twenty young friends of Miss Minnie, their elder daughter, invited to give her a pleasant time on her anniversary. Games of various natures were enjoyed and especial amusement was derived from the efforts of the different guests to restore to the donkey his tail. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Miss Barton received numerous gifts from her friends.

Andover people attended the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dushame, South Lawrence, last Tuesday evening. Mrs. Dushame was formerly Miss Harriet Higgins, daughter of Mrs. E. A. Higgins of High street.

Rev. Francis H. Johnson has purchased the David O. Whitman place on Washington avenue through the agency of Barnett Rogers.

The first ladies night of the season at the Andover club was held last Monday evening with about fifty present. What was the form of amusement of the evening and nine tables were surrounded by the players. The prizes were won by Miss Alice Jenkins, Miss Mary For, Miss Katherine H. Barnett and John H. Flint. A collation was served by Caterer Walter Rhodes. The committee of arrangements consisted of John N. Cole, M. F. D'Arcy, Andrew McTernan, Frank H. Messer and Charles L. White.

The Men's club of the Free church will begin their regular meetings for the season next Monday night. Instructor Brewster of Phillips academy will give an illustrated address upon the subject, "How Mountains Are Made."

The delegates from the Free church who attended the conference last week were William Angus, James Spence, Miss Lucia Clark, Mrs. John W. Bell and Mrs. Josephine Baldwin.

Bungling Work

"Now somebody's gone and done it!"
"Done what?"
"Lost the names from these Christmas gifts I had piled in the closet!"
"And who the people you were going to give 'em to?"

"No, stupid! Names of those who gave them to us last year. I'm afraid I may send some of 'em back to the same people!"
—Farm Life.

"How far is it to Washington, D. C.?"
"It's about four hours in time," answered Mr. Chuggins, "50 miles in distance, four gallons in gasoline, with an indefinite allowance for tire trouble."

20th CENTURY BREAD Served Exclusively Thousands of Homes

Because careful mothers are demanding bread that is highly nutritious and produced under the strictest sanitary conditions, 20th Century Bread is being served exclusively in thousands of homes day after day.

The 20th Century Bakery has always insisted upon the highest quality ingredients. Only pure whole milk, fresh from nearby farms, is good enough for 20th Century Bread. Only the finest of wheat flour, pure leaf lard, and Fleischmann's Yeast find a place in the 20th Century Bakery.

Only employees enjoying perfect health are employed in the 20th Century Bakery. Consider these facts, and then you will understand why the mothers who really care, are demanding and insisting on.

in Pynchard hall with twenty-five members present. Mr. Petty, the vice-president presided in the absence of George Brown, who was unable to be present because of illness.

Other officers elected were: First vice president, Charles Eames; second vice president, William Odlin; third vice president, Charles Dalton; treasurer, Ethel Hitchcock; recording secretary, Gladys A. Hill; statistical secretary, Miss C. Madeleine Hewes; executive committee, Arthur Fallon, George Brown, Eleanor Downes, Mrs. Charles Varden, Mrs. David May, Walden Bassett, and Mrs. Malcolm McTernan; trustee of the permanent fund for three years, Granville K. Cutler.

The secretary's report was read by Miss Hill telling of the activities of the year. She also read a letter from John V. Holt, chairman of the committee in charge of the permanent funds asking if the society wished to make any use of the income which now amounts to $55 a year. No action was taken. The educational fund amounts to $1162.53, $220 having been added to it during the present year and the Mary E. H. Derr fund to $216.55.

The treasurer's report was read by Miss Ethel A. Hitchcock showing a balance of $216.55 now on hand.

Mr. Guttererson expressed the thanks of the association for the service rendered by the retiring members of the executive committee Miss Ella Holt and Fred E. Cheever. On the motion also of Mr. Guttererson two votes of confidence and appreciation were passed; one because of the manner in which Mr. Hamblin conducted the Pynchard school and the second on account of the great success with which Mr. Lovely has met in managing the athletics.

The entertainment program consisted of the reading of a ghost story by Perley F. Gilbert and a guessing contest in which Mrs. Ernest C. Edmonds and Nathan C. Hamblin were the winners.

Refreshments of doughnuts, cheese and sweet cider were served by the social committee.

President Declares Day of Thanksgiving

Declaring that the Nation has passed through a year of domestic success and tranquility marked by friendly relations with other countries of the world, President Coolidge has called upon the people to set aside Thursday, November 24, as Thanksgiving Day, on which they might consider the "manifest blessings" which have come to them.

While the country has enjoyed material success, he said, there has also been an advance in "wisdom and spiritual understanding" and an increased desire for "the things that minister to the mind and soul."

Recalling that disaster has visited some States during the year, Mr. Coolidge declared that in continuing to remember those in affliction the country should rejoice in its power to extend a helping hand.

"Under the guidance and watchful care of a divine and beneficent Providence this country has been carried safely through another year," says the proclamation.

"Almighty God has continued to bestow upon us the light of his countenance and we have prospered. Not only have we enjoyed material success but we have advanced in wisdom and in spiritual understanding. The products of our fields and our factories and our manifold activities have been maintained on a high level. There has been advancement in our physical well-being. We have increased our desire for the things that minister to the mind and to the soul, we have raised the mental and moral standards of the people."

"We have had the blessings of peace and of honorable and friendly relations with our sister Nations throughout the world. Disasters visiting certain of our States have touched the heart of a sympathetic Nation, which has responded generously out of its abundance, in continuing to remember those in affliction we should rejoice in our ability to give them relief."

"Now that these 12 months are drawing close, it is fitting that, as a Nation and as individuals, in accordance with time-honored custom, we should consider the manifold blessings granted to us. While in gratitude we rejoice, we should humbly pray that we may be worthy of a continuation of divine favor."

About the North Shore Babies' Hospital

The premature twins at the North Shore Babies' Hospital are now rapidly gaining in strength and are able to take two feedings a day from a bottle. These twins' lives were despaired of at their admittance to the hospital but it is now practically certain that they will live.

Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., president of the Institution, states that over 900 infants have been treated from Salem alone since the Hospital moved from its island home to the mainland — its present situation. Nearly 2000 is the aggregate number cared for from the entire North Shore. One hundred ninety-three sick babies have been admitted since January first of this year.

The Directors of the Hospital are now making their plans to raise the $8000 which is necessary to maintain the work until the annual appeal in February. In making a survey of the territory many of the Directors are endeavoring to find out that so many people living in the vicinity of the work do not know what the hospital is for. For the benefit of those who are in doubt the policy of the institution is as follows: 1st. Acutely ill baby — this includes all acute infections such as pneumonia, bronchitis, pyelitis, meningitis, and diseases of that nature. To these babies the hospital gives expert medical attention and constant nursing care under the supervision of nurses trained especially for children. 2nd. Feeding cases make up practically the largest percentage of the hospital census. These consist of two distinct types: infants who through various causes have developed indigestion of some type and children who have not had proper foods and are therefore not properly developed, causing rickets with its accompanying bone deformities. To that class the hospital offers the best of foods regardless of cost and the usual medical attention and nursing care.

The third class consists of prematures. These babies are at best a very grave risk. However, the hospital gives them the best chance for their life. Breast milk is obtained if necessary at very great expense and ideal clothing is furnished. They are often fed by tube which is not possible in the home. 4th. Babies admitted for observation. These are the infants who cry without apparent cause, those who have temper tantrums and convulsions and children who because of home conditions are treated at a great disadvantage by home conditions. 5th. Shelter. Babies who are — because of some great social emergency — left without proper care and so in danger of becoming sick. Particularly in this group are babies who lose their mothers at birth which always results in a disorganized home.

The people of the North Shore are asked to generously support this work. Peabody will conduct a tag day on Saturday of this week, under the direction of Mrs. John Burbeck. Contributions will be received at any time at the Hospital.

R-d Cross Meets Heavy Demand for Water Safety Duty

Trained life-savers in the United States, qualified by the Red Cross as experts in all phases of water safety, now number 134,592 adults and juniors, according to the Life-Saving Service of the American Red Cross, which reported 32,506 trained and qualified in the past year. This number does not include other thousands who were taught to swim.

Training courses conducted by the Red Cross last summer brought out a uniformly high standard of proficiency. In addition, more than 20 winter training courses were conducted the past year. Swimming "institutes" at camps in Arizona, California, Indiana, Massachusetts, New York, North Carolina, Missouri, Oregon, Washington, and Wisconsin.

Other Red Cross activities, including Home Service to civilians amounted to $1,220,000; while other national domestic operations required $236,147.17.

An outstanding American contribution to the rest of the world is Red Cross assistance in foreign disasters, which the report shows, called for $256,962 to the end of the fiscal year. Activities under the League of Red Cross Societies, Junior Red Cross foreign projects, assistance to American insular chapters, and other foreign and insular work completed the demands on the total appropriation for the year.

These expenditures were cited by Chairman Payne as emphasizing the need for a growing membership and increased income.

The American Red Cross will ask an enrollment of 5,000,000 members for the coming year, during the Annual Roll Call, November 11-24 inclusive.

The Red Cross is endeavoring to supply trained leaders in water safety as its facilities permit. To increase the effectiveness of this and other services, the Eleventh Annual Roll Call, from November 11 to 24, will urge an enrollment of 5,000,000.

Makes Collection of Books on English Schools

During his trip in England last winter, James C. Sawyer made a rare collection of books and prints for Phillips Academy. Having visited the libraries of Yale, Harvard, Princeton, and other universities and colleges, Mr. Sawyer found that there were very few books on the subject of English schools, and it was thought it would be an excellent addition to the school to get a collection of this type.

Through the indispensable aid of Francis Edwards, to whom Mr. Sawyer was given a letter of introduction by Mr. O'Brien, these books were collected. As a great many of them were out of print, it was with great difficulty that some were obtained, and then only by a careful search through London and the smaller towns where the schools are located.

The set itself, made up of approximately two hundred volumes, contains histories and novels about the foremost English schools, Eton, Harrow, Rugby, and Winchester. There are more volumes in this collection than there were on that subject in all the libraries which Mr. Sawyer visited before his trip. Although the books have not been arranged on the shelves in the Trustees' Room a bookplate is now being designed and they will soon be in order. The reason for their being kept in this place is in order that the trustees may be able easily to refer to them and compare the English schools with Phillips Academy.

At the expense of about a thousand dollars, Mr. Sawyer also bought five or six old prints depicting school life in the early nineteenth century. The two most interesting are of Eton and Rugby. At Eton every year they used to have the "ad montem" celebration, at which all the students would dress up, and go on the highway, stopping the gentry and nobility for money, in order to help along toward college, the leader of the school. The print shows the school on the hill where they gather together "ad montem" and hand in their contributions. The other picture, of Rugby, shows the beginnings of modern football in a game where a fellow picked up the ball, against the rules and pursued by the opposing team, ran for the goal. This proved such good sport that it was soon adopted as a school game.

Andover Boy Leads Yale Soccer Team

Reginald W. Holt, an Andover boy, is leading the undefeated Yale varsity soccer team at New Haven this season. His playing the past three years while a member of the varsity team has been outstanding and his work was so commendable a year ago that his teammates honored him with the captaincy.

Holt first got his soccer instructions under the tutelage of Jim Ryley coach of the Phillips Academy team, of which school Holt is a graduate. From Andover he went to Yale where he immediately earned a position on the freshmen eleven.

Not only does the Andover boy participate in soccer but he is also a member of the Yale wrestling team. Last winter he wrestled in the 155-pound class for the Yale varsity team which went through the season without being beaten.

In his freshmen year at Yale, Holt won many medals for his brilliant wrestling having won the championship of his class in the division in which he participated.

The Yale soccer captain is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Holt of 74 Bartlett street. He was born in Andover on February 22, 1905. He attended the Andover public schools and graduated from Stowe. He entered Phillips academy, graduating in 1924.

The fall of the same year he entered Yale university where he is now a student and making a name for himself in the class room as well as on the athletic field.

During the past summer, he toured Europe visiting many places of interest and doing some climbing in the Swiss Alps making the ascent of Mt. Titlis, 11,000 feet high.

He is now taking a course in architecture at Yale, the pictures which he himself took of European cathedrals and castles in Britain adding greatly to the interest of the course.

Red Cross Makes Annual Appeal

The month of November has regularly been set aside since war days for the annual roll call of the American Red Cross, and the Andover Branch of that organization is, therefore, beginning this week the campaign for members in this community. Much of the labor of the Red Cross in Andover is necessarily carried on without sensational publicity; but the citizens do need, perhaps, to be reminded of the fact that the work of Miss Marie Campbell, the District Nurse, is maintained by the Red Cross; that through the Red Cross many cases of illness and misfortune are alleviated each year; that through its agency tuberculous children are cared for every summer at the Middleton sanatorium, where they invariably gain in strength and health; and that the Red Cross is adequately equipped to meet any serious disaster or emergency which may occur within the limits of our town. The part played by the national organization in assisting the refugees from the Mississippi flood has recently attracted much attention; but the functions of our own local branch also entitle it to the hearty good will of every one, — men, women, and children, — who live in Andover. We hope that there will be this year no falling off from the fine record invariably made in the past at the annual Red Cross Roll Call.

Garden Club Learns About Gladioli

G. Edgar Folk of Chestnut street was the speaker at the meeting of the Andover Garden club held Tuesday morning with Mrs. John M. Stewart at the Phillips Inn. Although Mr. Folk has been interested in gladioli only three years, he has been remarkably successful and taken prizes at several flower shows. He now cultivates two hundred fifty varieties and last year cut 2600 blooms.

Mr. Folk is a sincere believer in a hobby, not only to give an additional interest to life, but also as a rest-giver to prepare one for more serious labors. Gardening is in his opinion, an ideal hobby. He gave interesting and helpful suggestions for propagating his favorite flower from seeds, bulbs and cuttings, also about storing bulbs for the winter. Many of his hearers were surprised to learn that a bulb may throw 200 or more bulbets in a season.

Mrs. William A. Trow was appointed to make inquiries about the possibility of the Andover Garden club becoming a member of the Massachusetts Federation of Garden Clubs.

The meeting was attended by fourteen members with Mrs. William H. Jaquith, 2d, presiding. The room was bright with an abundance of flowers fresh from Mrs. Stewart's garden, including chrysanthemums, marigolds, larkspur and pansies although it was the first day of November.

The meeting was adjourned to Tuesday, December 6, at 10:45 when the club will meet with Mrs. Eben A. Baldwin.

Flashlight Club Holds Matinee Whist

A very pretty card party, entertainment and whist was held at the November club house last Friday afternoon by members of the Flashlight club. Cards were played at forty tables and the proceeds will be used to make a Merry Christmas for less fortunate children.

The hall was attractively decorated with chrysanthemums and autumn leaves and at the rear of the hall were household lines, aprons, fancy articles and candy were displayed for sale. White lattice work covered with vines made a pretty background.

A bridge score pad was presented to the winner at each table. Salted nuts were found at each table and ice cream and cake were served by the members of the committee who were dressed in halloween costumes of orange and black.

Following play a short entertainment program was given. Miss Frances McEwen gave a dance with Miss Louise Sherman at the piano and a second was given by Miss Helen Kimball with Miss Madeline Kimball at the piano. Miss Betty Campbell of Lawrence, who has unusual dramatic ability for one of her years delighted her audience with two readings, "At the Modern Art Exhibit," and "Clarence at the Ballgame."

The members of the committee were Misses Madeline Kimball, Mary Partridge, Louise Sherman, Dorothy Ruhl, and Mrs. Henry F. Perkins.

Fraternal Organizations to Hold Fair

The ways and means committee of the Fraternal Building association met in Fraternal hall Tuesday evening to complete plans for the fair to be held in the hall Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of next week. The fair will open Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock. A bean supper will be served Saturday evening from 5 to 7 o'clock on the top floor. The fair will be held on the second floor.

The following organizations will have charge of the tables at the fair: Clan Johnston, 185, O. S. C.; blankets and novelties; Ladies' auxiliary to Clan Johnston, domestic table; Indian Ridge Rebekah lodge, 136, candy table; Garfield temple, 56, Pythian Sisters, food table; Andover lodge, 230, I. O. O. F., lamps and Garfield lodge, 172, Knights of Pythias, hoopla and swaggar sticks.

Douglas Hutcherson will have charge of the pop corn, ice cream and tonic table. A grab bag will also be placed at one of the tables.

The following committee is in charge: Agnes Thin, Mrs. George B. Petrie, Mrs. George Cilley, Mrs. James Souter, Arthur Rodger, Charles Fettes, James Skea, John McGrath, Thomas Thin, Thomas B. Flynn, Douglas Hutcherson, Charles Davidson, Mrs. Kerr Sparks, Jose West, Mrs. Edward L. Roby, Henry E. Miller, Hugh Steed, Mrs. Alexina Guthrie, Miss Annie Anderson, Mrs. Edmund Dunwoody, Mrs. William Forsythe, Mrs. Charles I. avis, Mrs. William Gorrrie and Thomas Gorrrie.

Andover, he had ample opportunity to know the town well. With this thorough understanding and his able judgment he has been serving the town in the capacity of Selectman for fifteen years and was still an office holder at the time of his death. A reserved but capable administrator, he served his town conscientiously, and Andover is sure to find that it has lost an outstanding citizen.

Editorial Cinders

The best news we have had in a long while is that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon plans to cut federal taxes by approximately $225,000,000. This should prove a great help especially to corporations. It is interesting to note that Mr. Mellon wants to retain automobile and theatre taxes.

October established a new record for the number of sunshine hours, with ten perfect days. It has been a pleasant month than any recorded during the past three-quarters of a century, for which we should be duly appreciative.

Why stop at Mayor Thompson's "America First" society at a cost of $10, when for only $10 more you can belong to the exclusive "America Only" society of which Will Rogers is founder and treasurer? Will even promises to help exterminate all other nations, which will make the name of the organization more than a catchphrase. Let all good patriots send in their checks at once, so as to make national security doubly sure.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Injured in Automobile Accident

An error in calculating the distance between his automobile and the truck he was endeavoring to pass on the Andover-Reading road early Tuesday night, cost John E. Lawrence of 4 Lewis street, lacerations of the forehead, while his wife was treated at the General hospital for a fractured arm and deep lacerations of the chin and nose, and a split tongue.

The accident happened a short distance north of the Reading line. According to Andover police, Lawrence was driving his car in a southerly direction and tried to pass a five-ton Mack truck owned by the Charles S. Yolla Co. of Lynn and operated by Maurice H. Adams of that city. Lawrence told police there was no tail light on the truck and that this upset his calculations.

Andover police reported that Lawrence's Buick car sideswiped the truck and was completely demolished. Lawrence and his wife were removed in the Andover Fire department ambulance to the General hospital.

Mr. Lawrence is sixty-one years old and his wife is sixty. Both are well known residents of Andover. The former was discharged from the hospital after treatment but his wife was held for observation. On Thursday it was stated at the hospital that Mrs. Lawrence had spent a more comfortable night and that her condition had improved.

Dog and Fox in Mortal Combat

Major, the three-year-old bull terrier owned by Frank W. McLanathan, won a fight to the death with a red fox last week on the grounds surrounding the McLanathan home on the Andover-Reading road.

For ten minutes, a fierce battle raged near a stone wall, the dog slowly wearing down his wild adversary, finally sinking his teeth into the neck of his opponent and killing it. George Cairns, a gardener, witnessed the struggle between the two animals. He saw Major, a full-blooded dog, speedy and powerful, rush across the estate toward the stone wall some distance away. The great raps of the fox failed in out-distancing the dog, and the unwelcome visitor found himself cornered at the wall. He stopped to fight and used every bag of tricks ever taught by the learned masters of the wilderness. Back and forth the two struck with open jaws, snapping, cutting and ripping away, at first flying in all directions. A supreme dive made by the dog finished the fight as he brought down the fox with a bad neck wound.

Major picked up his victim in his teeth and dragged him away from the scene of the battle. A bit of comedy was furnished by the little dead scene when Wag, another bull terrier burst into the argument at the close of the fight. He could not resist taking a nip at the victim, so just snapped at the fox's tail, pulling off a good portion of the fur covering the tail.

The body of the fox was removed to a butcher store and the skin, a beautiful red specimen, removed. It will be cured and made into a fur neckpiece or rug.

The battle took place only a short distance from the main highway. Fox is a rare animal for that neighborhood and it is believed that the animal was taking a short cut to reach the nearby woods when the dog spotted it and gave chase.

November Club Notes

The first meeting of the November club will be held at the clubhouse on Monday, November 14, at half past three o'clock. The first meeting of the Dramatic department will be held Friday afternoon, November 11, with Mrs. Frank Hardy at three o'clock.

PASSING OF MR. BOWMAN

A quartet from the Free church choir composed of Mrs. Alfred R. Harris, Miss Etta Brown, George M. Knipe, and George A. Christie, sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide with Me." Horace N. Killam presided at the organ.

The bearers were Frank H. Hardy and Andrew McEwen, members of the Board of Selectmen; George A. Higgins, Town clerk and town treasurer; Joseph Lynch, sealer of weights and measures; William B. Cheever, tax-collector; and William G. Donald.

Interment was in the family lot in Spring Grove cemetery.

Tribute to Charles Bowman

At the funeral service of Charles Bowman in the Free Christian Church on Tuesday afternoon Dr. Frederick A. Wilson spoke in part as follows:

We meet here today in the fellowship of a great sorrow. A noble man, a devoted husband, father, brother, a trusted friend, a loyal citizen, a faithful public servant has been called from our midst into the spirit world in the prime of his manhood.

We cannot help but mourn, and we gather for this Christian service in sympathy for his dear ones, in tribute to his memory and to cheer our hearts with Christian comfort.

No words of ours can express the loss of those who stood nearest to him in the family circle and who will so keenly miss him in the home, nor can we measure what he has been to them; but I may try to suggest something of the appreciation we have of his life who have known him as neighbor, friend, fellow citizen and fellow worker for our town.

He was a friendly man. In social life, on the street, in his private business, in his public duties, wherever he came into relations with others he manifested a friendly spirit which led them to feel his brotherliness and that he was one who would want to help another in need.

This trait was specially noticeable in his duties as an overseer of the poor of the town. He considered their need with the sympathetic attitude of a friend and not merely as an official of the town doing out its help to them.

He was an honest man. This word "honest" slips easily from our lips as we speak of the ordinary man, but not to every one could it be so aptly applied as to Charles Bowman. You, who had dealings with him in his private business, knew that you could trust his word and his work, that he would give you your full rights. Those who served with him in the town's business felt his high sense of honor in conducting its affairs. If as the poet says, "An honest man's the noblest work of God," Charles Bowman was one of God's noblemen.

And he was also a faithful man. That his fellow citizens five times elected him to serve the town of Andover on its Board of Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor testifies to their confidence in his fidelity, and every new year of his service increased their approval of it.

Whether in the pursuit of his trade, or in his transaction of the town's business he did his work to the best of his ability. In his daily life he proved the truth of Scripture "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much."

We shall miss this friendly, honest, faithful man in our community life. These humble but ever needed virtues of friendliness, honesty and faithfulness are none too common in our day. A man who exemplifies them in daily living is worthy of imitation by the youth of our land. Men of such characteristics increase the strength of our nation's life.

The memory of this man whose loss we mourn today should be an inspiration to the humblest boy of Andover, because of what he has made of himself and done for this town.

The speaker closed his address with words of comfort giving assurance from the Sacred Scriptures of immortality and of God's help in time of trial as taught by Jesus Christ.

Red Cross Roll Call

The annual Roll Call of the Andover Branch, American Red Cross, is beginning on November 3, under the direction of Augustus P. Thompson, and will be carried on until November 24, Thanksgiving Day. The work of soliciting members will be accomplished by a committee of volunteers, who will undertake to call at every house in the town. Regular membership in the Red Cross is one dollar, of which fifty cents goes toward the local organization.

The Andover Branch, however, is also soliciting special gifts of larger size for the maintenance of the work of the District Nurse, Miss Marie Campbell, and for the support of its extensive philanthropic projects in the community. All but fifty cents of every gift, no matter what its size, is held by the Andover Branch. Andover has, in the past, been uniformly among the leading branches of the Essex County organization, and there is no reason why it should not continue to retain its high position.

Dr. Fuess Publishes Another Book

Dr. Fuess has just completed a biography of Rufus Choate, the great Massachusetts lawyer, orator, and statesman, which will be published by Minton, Balch & Co. in the spring of next year. This book is not a comprehensive biography, but is an effort to interpret the various phases of Choate's career and to show the influence on American history which this man exerted through his achievements and personality.

Reception at Punchard

The sophomores tendered the freshmen a reception in the form of an autumn costume party Thursday evening in the Punchard hall. Dancing was included in the program arranged for the evening and an entertainment appropriate for the Halloween season was enjoyed.

The committee in charge: Robert Stevens, chairman; Betty Todd, Dorothy Waite, Dorothy Foster and Robert Abercrombie.

"ALWAYS AT YOUR CALL"

"No, It Isn't A New Rug"

"I know it looks like one, John, but really it isn't. It's just the old one I sent to Wessell's laundry and that is the way it came back. Pretty nice looking, isn't it? As bright and clean as when first bought."

"I am greatly pleased with the result of my experience with Wessell's Laundry. I did not know they did such good work at such a reasonable price. I'll not bother washing rugs or blankets or curtains hereafter at home when I can get such work done for me."

There are others as well pleased. Try our service and you will be.

MRS. ELIZABETH M. (HANSON) WHIPPLE

Mrs. Elizabeth M. (Hanson) Whipple, widow of Daniel L. Whipple, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Abbott, 70 Main street, on Saturday, October 29.

Mrs. Whipple was born in Stanstead, Province of Quebec, Canada, on January 29, 1846. Her marriage with Mr. Whipple took place in Lowell. They made their home in North Andover for twenty-five years, returning to Lowell for about fourteen years before coming to make their home in Andover more than a dozen years ago.

Mrs. Whipple was a member of Grace Universalist church in Lowell and a member of the Woman's Alliance of the North Parish church, North Andover.

She was the last surviving member of her family in her own generation, and survived her husband by five years.

Funeral services were conducted at the late home on Monday afternoon by Rev. Samuel C. Beane, minister of the North Parish church, and by Rev. C. Guy Robbins of the church of the good Shepherd, Lawrence.

The bearers were Fred Cheever, Albert W. Lowe, Herbert Russell and Frank Hardy. Interment was in the West Parish cemetery.

Sleeps at the Wheel

An automobile driver who believes that he may have fallen asleep at the wheel, according to the story he told the police, is now in the Lawrence General hospital with his wife who was riding with him when his automobile left the Andover-Reading road about 4 o'clock Tuesday morning and crashed into a telegraph pole.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O. D. Routhier of 20 Acorn street, Central Falls, R. I., who were on their way to their new home at 292 South Broadway, Lawrence, are the victims of the accident.

Husband and wife were rushed to the hospital in the Andover fire department ambulance. It was reported at the hospital that the husband, who is twenty-three years old, is resting comfortably with his injuries, which include head lacerations. His wife, who is twenty years old, has probably internal injuries and although seriously hurt, her condition is not considered critical nor has her name been placed on the danger list.

The Andover police investigated the accident Tuesday morning and learned from the driver that the car was owned by Olga B. Madden of 219 Brookline street, Pawtucket, R. I. They had been riding during the night for their Lawrence destination and the only explanation Mr. Routhier can give for the accident is that he and his wife had dropped off to sleep, allowing the car to run wild along the highway and finally come to a stop against the telegraph pole. It was near Hidden road, a short distance from Andover hill, that the car came to grief.

Hold Whist Party in Fraternal Hall

A very successful whist party was held in the Fraternal hall on Saturday evening. Whist was played at twenty tables.

The following prizes were awarded: Floor lamp, James Crake; table lamp, Mrs. Campbell; dinner set, Edward Lefebvre; doll, Joseph McMullin; tray, Mrs. Albert Cole; set of dishes, Mrs. A. Hartig; basket, Mrs. Hartig; spread, Mrs. E. Powers; blanket, Arthur Smith and carving set, Mrs. William Farrell.

The consolation prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Henault. Mr. Henault received a carton of cigarettes, while Mrs. Henault received a beautiful embroidered bureau scarf.

Federal Dry Enforcement Officers Decend on Illicit Plant in West Andover

Slipping quietly into Lawrence early last night, federal enforcement officers, accompanied by state police, made their way over Mount Vernon street and seized a 300-gallon still in West Andover, less than a hundred yards from the Lawrence-Andover line.

Lewis Lavini of 129 High street, and Frank Milano, 33 French street both of Lawrence were arrested charged with illegal manufacture and were released under bail for appearance before Commissioner Walsh in Lowell Federal court next Monday.

According to federal police, the still was one of the largest seized in this vicinity for some time and was found in a barn across the way from what is known as the "old Magee place." The seized equipment was confiscated, loaded on trucks and sent to Boston.

Andover Woman Presides at Meeting in Boston

A group of women from the South and Free churches attended the all-day meeting, held on Monday in the Old South Church, Boston, of the Presidents' Conference of the Congregational Missionary Society of Massachusetts. This is composed of presidents and delegates from societies auxiliary to the larger organization. The most helpful feature was a series of interesting and businesslike talks on methods of work, given by women experienced in leadership, and followed by discussions. Mrs. John V. Holt, of Andover, president of the Conference, presided.

Andover and Woburn District to Meet at Medford

The Andover and Woburn District of the Congregational Woman's Missionary Society will meet at the Mystic Church, Salem street, Medford on Wednesday, November 9. Special interest attaches to this meeting as it is the first one of the new district arrangement.

Rev. Lloyd S. Knight of Idaho will be the principal speaker of the morning session, and Rev. Frank C. Laubach, Manila, of the afternoon session.

Sons of Veterans Elect Officers

Charles G. Kibbee was re-elected commander of Walter L. Raymond camp, 111, Sons of Veterans, at the meeting held last Friday evening in G. A. R. hall. Iru Buxton was elected secretary in the Old South Church, Boston, of the Presidents' Conference of the Congregational Missionary Society of Massachusetts. Red Cross Nurses Aid in Every Great Disaster

Two major disasters, the Florida hurricane and the Mississippi flood, required the services of Red Cross nurses in large numbers over a long period of time in the past year.

In the Florida storm, service of 350 nurses is recorded. It is estimated that about 100 others assisted in the first few days as volunteers. The total number of nurses in the Mississippi valley flood was approximately 200. In every major disaster the services of Red Cross nurses are needed, lending added importance to the enrolled reserve which now numbers more than 45,000 Red Cross nurses. These nurses are available for any emergency, though they are on duty in hospitals and in private practice. They constitute the reserve of the Army and Navy nurse corps in time of war.

Besides emergency duty, Red Cross nurses assisted materially in many local services, Chapter reports to National Headquarters indicate. The Eleventh Annual Roll Call of the Red Cross, from November 11 to 24, it is pointed out, is an opportunity for everyone to become identified with the Red Cross.

Elaborate Program Planned for 150th Anniversary Celebration

The executive and subsidiary committees in charge of the details for the sesquicentennial celebration at Phillips Academy to be held in the middle of next May are now well advanced in planning the program. A tentative schedule of the events will be mailed to all members of the alumni within the next two weeks. They will be asked to respond, telling what they would like to see done.

Invitations to the celebration have already been accepted by Governor Alvan T. Fuller and his staff, President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University, President Angell of Yale, President Hildreth of Princeton, President Pense of Amherst, President Sills of Bowdoin, President Hopkins of Dartmouth, who is one of the trustees of the academy and many others. Special invitations will also be sent out to the headmasters of virtually every important preparatory school in the East.

Plans have already been completed to have an athletic contest with Exeter as the concluding feature of the program. Whether this will be a baseball game or a track meet has not yet been decided.

By a special vote of the trustees the editors of the Exeter Post have been authorized to publish a special edition in connection with the 150th anniversary. This book will be under the general supervision of the executive committee and will be ready for distribution at the time of the celebration.

The punches were Mrs. Robert Franz and Mrs. Harry Gouck.

Memorial Tower Illuminated

The memorial tower on Andover hill, which since its erection several years ago has been an object of interest in the landscape as well as a landmark, has recently been acquired a new beauty. A light which sheds its radiance over the campus making a beacon visible far and near was installed on Saturday of last week and has elicited much favorable comment.

When the foliage has fallen from the trees other experiments may be tried such as casting a light upon the tower itself, obtaining the effect seen on a moonlight night.

To Take Part in Middlebury Class Play

Seymour Tate, now a student at Middlebury college, will take the part of Roger Shields in the play, "The Whole Town's Talking," to be presented by the junior class of the college. Mr. Tate who graduated from Puncard high school with the class of 1926, played the same part in the same play when it was staged in the town hall by his high school class in May, 1926. He is now a sophomore at Middlebury and his many local friends will be pleased to hear of his success in college dramatics.

Red Cross Nurses Aid in Every Great Disaster

Two major disasters, the Florida hurricane and the Mississippi flood, required the services of Red Cross nurses in large numbers over a long period of time in the past year.

In the Florida storm, service of 350 nurses is recorded. It is estimated that about 100 others assisted in the first few days as volunteers. The total number of nurses in the Mississippi valley flood was approximately 200. In every major disaster the services of Red Cross nurses are needed, lending added importance to the enrolled reserve which now numbers more than 45,000 Red Cross nurses. These nurses are available for any emergency, though they are on duty in hospitals and in private practice. They constitute the reserve of the Army and Navy nurse corps in time of war.

Besides emergency duty, Red Cross nurses assisted materially in many local services, Chapter reports to National Headquarters indicate. The Eleventh Annual Roll Call of the Red Cross, from November 11 to 24, it is pointed out, is an opportunity for everyone to become identified with the Red Cross.

Benevolent Society of Free Church to Hold Supper and Sale

The annual harvest supper will be held at the Free church parish house under the auspices of the Benevolent society on Wednesday evening, November 9, at half past six. Mrs. George Carter is chairman of the committee.

Following the supper there will be a short entertainment consisting of readings by Mrs. Florence Rowley Exeter, N. H., and vocal music by Miss Nelda Bedell and J. Everett Collins.

There will also be a sale of vegetables.

A. P. C. Sorority Holds Initiation

Four new members were initiated at a well-attended meeting of the A. P. C. sorority held Thursday evening in the South Church vestry and presided over by Miss Ruth Abbott. The new members are Mrs. Malcolm McTernan, Mrs. Charles Sparks, Mrs. John Holmeland and Miss Evelyn Carter.

Plans were made for the bakery sale which is being held this afternoon in the Musgrove block. The members of the committee in charge are Mrs. Florence Dearborn, Mrs. Arthur Cole, and Mrs. Frank Crawford.

Two weeks from tonight, November 18, Mrs. William McElroy will speak on her work in the Kentucky mountains. This will be an open meeting and many persons who heard Mrs. McElroy speak last spring when she was in Andover will be delighted to have an opportunity to hear her again.

On the first Saturday in December a rummage sale will be held in the Musgrove block who Mrs. Laura Downes as chairman.

The business meeting was followed by a special musical program given by Miss Marion Abbott in costume. Her piano accompaniments were played by Mrs. John Albion Burr.

Delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by a committee composed of Miss Helen McCraw, Mrs. Shirley Barnard, Miss Edith Kendall, Miss Beatrice Henderson, and Miss Frances Hall.

Eastern Star Has Banquet and Inspection

The annual banquet and inspection ceremonies of Andover Chapter, O. E. S., was held Tuesday evening. The banquet was served in the vestry of the Baptist church with about 150 present. It was followed by the inspection ceremonies which were held in Masonic hall.

The inspecting officers were: Mrs. Alice L. Hale, inspecting matron and Mrs. Sarah D. Hayward, inspecting marshal, both of Franklin and Dr. John V. Ray of Bradford as officiating grand marshal.

Hold Halloween Party at Square and Compass Club

A Halloween party and dance was held by the Andover Square and Compass club last Friday night in its new hall. The hall was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and Halloween decorations. Dancing was enjoyed music being furnished by Mal Lundquist.

The committee in charge was: George A. Higgins, Harry Sellers, Fred Morrison, Robert Crockett, Samuel Wormald, John Swenson, Norman Bartlett and Dr. Malcolm McTernan.

Costume Party at Fraternal Hall

A costume dance and Halloween party was held in Fraternal building last Friday evening under auspices of the ways and means committee. Games were played and general dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening.

The prizes for the costumes were awarded as follows:

Funniest for women "Organ Grinders," Mrs. George Brown, pair of silk stockings; prettiest costume for girls, "Butterfly," Gretta Hilton, box of candy; funniest for men, "Punch," Willie Wymore, of Haverhill, a pair of silk socks; funniest for children, Lester Hilton, Jr., "a colored boy," basket of apples.

Light refreshments were served to all present.

WEST PARISH

West Parish Girl Scouts attended the meeting at North Andover on Saturday.

Miss S. Mary Cotton has been in Newburyport this week, called there by the death of a friend.

Miss Mary F. Gould of Auburndale was a week-end guest at the home of Mrs. Sarah M. Wagstaff, Lowell road.

Miss Abbie Lewis, a student nurse at Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, was at her home for the week-end.

Mrs. Nelson L. Pratt and Mrs. Clifford S. Wright were guests of Mrs. Kenneth Barnard, Lowell road, on Tuesday.

Fred Buckley and Roger Lewis attended the Past Masters' Association meeting at North Reading on Monday evening.

It is noted that West Parish farmers are busy plowing their corn land as the government says it must be done before December 1, in order that the corn borer may be controlled.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. George Winslow on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Final plans for the Harvest Sale were made. This sale together with the Chicken pie supper will be held Thursday, November 17.

The Christian Endeavor society met on Sunday evening at the home of Miss Peterson, Greenwood road. On Sunday evening the meeting will be at the home of Miss Phoebe Noyes, Lovejoy road and Elmer Peterson will be the leader. The subject will be, "What Should Be the Christian's Attitude Towards War?"

Mrs. Sarah M. Wagstaff observed her eighty-fifth birthday in a quiet but very pleasant way. Many friends called and two birthday cakes, flowers, cards, letters and other gifts testified to the love of old and young. Mrs. Wagstaff is confined to her room but her cheery smile and greeting never fails as her scores of friends can testify.

The R. P. C. Girl's Club held a Halloween party at the home of Miss Helen Lewis, Lowell road, on Monday evening. An evening of Halloween games, not the least of which was the "Ghost Walk," were played. Miss Winona Boutwell received the prize for the best costume. Refreshments consisting of doughnuts, cider and sandwiches were served during the evening.

The Lafollet Club met at the home of Miss Fannie Kilburn, Shawheen Village, on Tuesday evening. It was the annual election of officers and those chosen were: President, Miss Elizabeth Doyle, Greenwood road; Mrs. Marion Henderson, Angilla road; treasurer, Mrs. Marjorie Ward, vice president; and Miss Dora Ward, secretary. Two pleasant events of the evening were the shower given Miss Kilburn by the club in honor of her approaching marriage and the presentation of a gift to Miss Ebbie Peterson who leaves at an early date for California, where she will attend the wedding of her brother, Carl, an Andover boy, who has been in that part of the country for several years. The next meeting will be with Mrs. John Rassmussen of Lowell road.

Grange Notes

Andover Grange will meet on Tuesday evening. It will be Children's Night and Mrs. Harry Dawson with some little friends will entertain. It will be open meeting after the business session.

Overseer Rennie and Chaplain Lewis with Mrs. Lewis attended Bradford Grange at Haverhill on Wednesday evening. The Beverly Ladies' Degree Staff put on the third degree at the work was flawless. Essex Pomona is meeting at Methuen today. The Fifth Degree will be worked and officers for 1928 chosen.

"Every woman wishes to make one man happy."

"I have done better than that," said Miss Cayenne. "I fancy that I have contributed to the happiness of several gentlemen whom I refused to marry."—Washington Star

The Ludin Memorial erected in Greenwood Cemetery, New York City, is a combination of classic and modern ideas in monument work. The sarcophagus idea is borrowed from the ancients, while the sculptured figure representing Memory has modern tendencies.

We have made a profound study of memorial building, and an order placed in our hands is sure to receive faithful, intelligent execution.

We will gladly furnish estimates.

ROGER W. BABSON STATES WHAT HE WOULD DO IF HE WERE A FARMER

Farmers Succeed Best Who Are Organized to Market Their Own Produce and Who Adopt Progressive Methods and Labor-Saving Machinery—Dairying and Poultry-Raising Offer Profitable Fields

Babson Park, Massachusetts, November 4, 1927. A number of statements have recently been made by Mr. Babson on the agricultural conditions in certain sections of the country. He has been asked which sections of the country and which agricultural lines give the most promise to the farmer and livestock raiser. As his answer is of general interest, to business men as well as farmers, we give his reply as follows:

Farming a Business

"The farm continues to be the principal subject of discussion in the Pullman smokers. There are those who believe that farming is a business and, like any other business, is subject to fundamental economic laws. They believe that the only law worth while is the law of supply and demand and that all other laws are useless and should be wiped off the statute books. Then there are those who believe that the farmer is the basis of all prosperity and should be subsidized and maintained like the Army or Navy. Both these positions are extreme.

"Farming should be allowed to work out its future through the survival of the most efficient the same as must the automobile, textile, and steel businesses. Farming is subject to the same temptations and opportunities as other lines, and the farmers must expect to suffer or prosper according to their industry, judgment, and progressiveness. On the other hand, it should be recognized that the prosperity of all of us is vitally dependent upon the prosperity of the farmers.

Farmers Making Money

"Information which I have received from seventy-eight leading centers, representing all sections of the United States, leads me to believe that the farmers of the country, on a whole, are making more money. At any rate, only a small percentage of agricultural workers are losing money today. The information that I have, clearly shows that out of seventy-eight localities, sixty-three register farming as profitable, both to the man who tills the soil and the man who raises livestock; four localities limit their profits to the livestock raiser, and only eleven localities indicate that their farmers are not making money. The majority of these latter are behind largely because of poor weather conditions.

"Two facts, however, stand out strongly: (1) The greatest prosperity has come where the farmers are organized to market their own produce, and (2) where the farmers are adopting progressive methods and labor saving machinery. Big business has learned the value and necessity of cooperation. It is also prospering through the use of labor-saving machinery. Millions of dollars could be saved by the farmers of the cotton belt if they could market their crops themselves through cooperative associations. In the case of cotton such associations can act with the farmer to improve the grades; can market for the most advantageous price; and when there is an extra large crop of cotton an increased demand can easily be stimulated through advertising so that people will use more cotton and replenish their cotton stocks. The demand for most crops, vegetables, and dairy products could thus be stimulated even more than at present. The demand for wheat, on the other hand, cannot be easily stimulated as people will eat only so much bread and, as they become more prosperous, tend to cut down rather than increase their per capita use of wheat.

"As I have stated many times before, most farmers use too much man-labor and not enough work-stock and labor-saving equipment. A farm is only one form of factory and hence requires the most efficient equipment and management.

Opportunities in Farming

"If I were to become a farmer today, dairying and poultry raising would appeal to me the most. My study shows that dairying is one of the best paying lines and one which has openings in all parts of the country. There are also excellent opportunities for the raising of poultry in most sections. With many crops the turnover is but once a year with the money coming in shortly after harvest time, while dairying and poultry raising have the advantage of producing a steady income throughout all the year.

"Of course many other lines of agriculture have advantages. Many sections of the country are adapted to the growing of fruit and modern methods of packing and transportation give a country-wide market. The livestock situation is quite favorable in the Southern and Central states. In addition to the improved conditions in the Northwest, reports indicate that market gardeners near large cities have been doing especially well. They are assured good markets and stand a fair chance of making a profit on their land.

Mr. Snow Tells How to Secure Riding Comfort

Comfort is second only to price as a determining factor in the purchase of a passenger automobile, according to the finding of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"Despite this fact, however," says Mr. Snow, of the Frank E. Snow Co., "very few car buyers—even the experienced ones—look further than the upholstery in their search for riding comfort. Because they are largely out of sight, the chassis springs, the real seat of riding comfort, are usually completely overlooked."

Mr. Snow, Detroit Spring dealer in Lawrence says that there are certain essentials to be looked for in judging the riding qualities of any spring. By keeping these essentials in mind, the motorist who will take an interest in his machine's springs may accurately forecast their performance on a rough road.

Maximum length, breadth, and flatness, according to Mr. Snow, are the qualities to be sought. The chassis spring that is longest, widest, and flattest will produce the best ride. Short, narrow springs, with a high camber, predict plenty of jolts and jars.

Another important factor in determining a car's riding qualities is its unsprung weight. Mr. Snow explains that by unsprung weight is meant the weight not carried by the springs—that is, the wheels, axles, brakes, tires, and differential. The lower the unsprung weight is, the better the car will ride. Particularly is a low ratio of unsprung to sprung weight desirable in light cars. Properly designed in this respect, the light car will enjoy a freedom from rough riding comparing very favorably with that of much heavier machines.

Detroit Springs for replacement are constructed in accordance with the car makers' specifications for original equipment," says Mr. Snow, and in the course of experience merchandising them we have learned a great deal about automobile suspension. It is subject to the study of which is worth any driver's time."

A customer drove up for gas the other day and said, "Joe, I have just returned from a vacation in Maine and believe me I was glad to get back, if for no other reason than to be able to fill the old bus with your Gas." The old bus was running like a lily when I left, not a knock in her, but when she ran out I stopped and filled up with "Any old gas" and lo, and behold I thought I'd go deaf with the knocking. FARMING CONDITIONS

Late Fall Very Important

Considering the lateness of the crop, especially the corn crop in the Middle West, the American people have a good deal to be thankful for on the coming Thanksgiving Day. There has not been a year for a long time when the farmers were so late in getting the seed into the ground on account of excessive rains and the cold spring. An early freeze would have cost this country hundreds of millions of dollars. As it is, this entire country and Canada have enjoyed a beautiful fall which has enabled the crops to mature in nearly all sections.

As a result of the favorable weather conditions, the United States should this year produce crops to a total exceeding $10,000,000,000, while Canada will add to this amount another $900,000,000. This means a total of $10,900,000,000 will be added to the gross wealth of America during 1927. Furthermore, if we include Mexico and Central America there would be several hundred more to be added. Of course, this is not net wealth as from this amount must be deducted what has been consumed, used, and otherwise destroyed. Even after this has been done there still will show a net gain for which the people of the United States and Canada should be duly thankful on Thanksgiving Day. As a result of this crop situation the Babson-chart should tend upward during the balance of the year. Today it is registering just about normal compared with 14 per cent above normal a year ago.

The Toothbrush Cupboard

What kind of care do you take of the family toothbrushes. Do they hang on hooks or on a rack directly over the bathroom basin, where they are exposed to dust, flying soap-splashes, odors, and dampness generally? Of course, that will never do. Madam Housewife!

The dentist tells us that almost as many of our tooth troubles come from germ-laden toothbrushes as from food decay. A toothbrush that is never thoroughly dried, never subjected to a good disinfectant, never sunned and aired and made sweet and wholesome, is not the implement to put into our own and our children's mouths. A damp toothbrush to which a coating of toothpaste still clings, attracts all sorts of invisible forms of decomposition, and the brush which isn't thoroughly rinsed and dried is as unhealthful as a half-rinsed, half-damp garment or half-clean, half-dry bedding.

The best way to treat a toothbrush is to dip it, after using, into some good antiseptic solution. A glass containing one teaspoon of a powerful disinfectant mixed with ten teaspoons of water is an efficient germ-killer. Some dentists recommend denatured alcohol or medicated alcohol.

After dipping the brushes in this solution, put them in a wide-mouthed bottle, brush end out, and stand them in the sunshine until absolutely dry. It is said that the direct rays of the sun kill germs, whereas the rays which come through glass will not. If the sun is not shining, dry the brushes over the radiator.

When the brushes are ready for use again, hang them in a special little cupboard, kept scrupulously clean, where they will be free from the dust and floating soap-particles in the bathroom. Individual holders for the brushes are good provided the brushes are perfectly dry; but the circulation of some air is good for them. The main thing is to see that all food particles, bits of toothpaste or powder, and other germ-producing matter is entirely removed after every using, and that the brush is first disinfected and then dried.

Punchard Outplays Gloucester

The Punchard high school football eleven defeated the strong Gloucester high team 12 to 0 Saturday afternoon on the Balmoral gridiron.

The ability of the Andover school boys to break up the North Shore team's passing game was responsible for the victory. Less than seven forward passes were intercepted by the Punchard boys and two of them were converted into touchdowns.

Punchard should have had a much larger score, for on three different occasions they surrendered the ball on downs on Gloucester's 10-yard line. Gloucester never seriously threatened the Andover goal line for they were never nearer than Punchard's 35-yard line during the game.

Walter Batchelor was the main cog in the Punchard team again both on offense and defense. His interception of a Gloucester pass early in the first period resulted in a run-back of 28 yards for the first score. On three other occasions he snared the pigskin from waiting Gloucester arms which put the Andover eleven in favorable scoring positions. Late in the final period, after an intercepted pass he followed up with a 12-yard dash of tackle that brought the ball to Gloucester's 5-yard line. It took three plays to put the ball over for the final score.

Capt. Morrissey was also conspicuous and made several spectacular tackles, in addition to blocking a punt that was recovered by Lawrence. Loosigian did a nice job at left guard and intercepted the Gloucester pass that led to the second touchdown. Ed Dwyer played a steady game throughout and his choosing to play a kicking game proved to be excellent judgment as Punchard gained ground on every exchange. Fred Ladd, Jr. and George Forsythe, moved into the backfield recently by Coach Lovely, worked well and backed up the line in fine style. Ladd completed Punchard's one successful pass, gaining 10 yards on the play.

The summary:

The lecturer was emphasizing the demoralizing effect of divorce.

"Love," he said, "is a quest; a proposal, a request; the giving of a daughter's hand in marriage, a bequest, and marriage itself the conquest. But what is divorce?"

Voice from the audience: "The inequest."

As a broad conclusion," says W. B. Greeley, head of the Forest Service in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, "the Forest Service has tremendous faith in the commercial promise of timber growing to American landowners. The law of supply and demand is working steadily to create timber values which in large portions of the United States will pay fair returns on forestry as a business. The economic history of other countries which have passed through a cycle of virgin forest depletion similar to that which the United States is now traversing points to the same inevitable conclusion. The time is fast approaching when forestry, and forestry alone, will supply the enormous quantities of wood demanded by American markets."

Mrs. Peck — Don't you, you sneaked! Well, then, I'll tell you — you bought a cigar with the fare I gave you this morning and walked to work! — Detroit News

MASTERS SET RECORD

Captain Roy Hardy Also Breaks Mark and Team Takes Four from Deacons. Tylers Runners-up

The Masters broke the league record for a team total hitting 1602 to win four points from the Deacons who rolled well enough to win an ordinary game. The Masters however were in the cellar and their above average rolling sent them into a quadruple tie for third place. Herb Russell had high single of 112 and a three string total of 293. The Deacons lost the second string by a single pin with Captain George Neilson hitting 107 and 293.

The Tylers by virtue of a great comeback for a three-point win from the Stewards occupy second place alone. The Stewards had a lead of 41 pins on the first string but the Tylers through the great bowling of Town Clerk Higgins and Bob Dobbie wiped this out giving their team two strings and the total by 6 pins.

The Marshals kept their lead for first place winning three from the Vardens. Captain Dave Preston hit 101 and 297 with Everett Collins high for the Wardens with 113 and 297. A strike by Captain Harry Wadman in his last box of the match gave the Wardens their one point.
